

Writer's Name:	Rafay Ejaz
Reviewer's Name:	Brandon Arroyo

Assignment Criteria
1. Appropriate Focus and Rhetorical Effectiveness of the Language and Literacy Narrative. How effectively does the language and literacy narrative provide specific details and 1-2 concrete examples of the writer's language/literacy experiences? How effectively does the language and literacy narrative attend to description to appeal to audiences? REVIEWER FEEDBACK: They talk about how they speak a different language and how they were judged for not being able to read the language, so they talk about language and literacy and their experience with it and how they learned and grew from it.
2. Explicit Commentary on Significance and Implications. How effectively does the narrative highlight some central idea about a larger social significance? That is, how well does the narrative explicitly comment on the larger implications of the narrative, making connections to national trends or to the writer's life, family, generation, gender, race, culture, linguistic background, and/or geographic location? REVIEWER FEEDBACK: They start to talk about how in their home country they are judged because they are American.

Insert any additional comments to your peer here: